Summary

I am a Junior Full-Stack Developer (JavaScript, HTML & CSS) looking for my next challenge.

As a media student, the symbiosis of technology and design has always interested me - from customising my first Myspace page to building websites for employers, the relationship between functionality and aesthetic, and finding the right balance, has been a challenge I enjoy rising to and now want to delve deeper into. I have honed vital skills in a variety of work environments such as; excellent communication, efficient workload management with tight deadlines, and a highly attuned attention to detail which makes for successful and rapid problem solving; something I engage with easily and find very rewarding.
